PURELL Perfect Placement for Restrooms

Stop germs from leaving your restroom

1 out of 4 people who use the restroom do not wash their hands¹

46% of people who wash their hands don't wash long enough to be effective²

Germs on hands are transferred to other surfaces throughout the building

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend washing your hands or using an alcohol-based hand sanitizer as "the best way to prevent illness and infection."

But the fact of the matter is, people aren't washing their hands or aren't washing properly. And building occupants know it.

Real or perceived, people believe the handle on the restroom door to be unclean. As a result, they use paper towels to open the door and then throw them on the floor.

Ultimately, this reflects on the professional image you and your staff work so hard to maintain

Where is the PURELL® Perfect Placement for Restrooms?

Finding the PURELL Perfect Placement in every restroom

We recognize there are some restroom configurations which may make placement difficult. Use your best judgment in finding the location which is closest to the PURELL Perfect Placement. Here are a few guidelines for finding the "next best" location.

- Do everything you can to keep the dispenser on the door-handle side of the exit door. Placing it on the hinge side puts it behind the open door, and decreases the likelihood of usage.
- Never place a PURELL dispenser near a soap dispenser. This causes confusion for the patron and minimizes the usefulness of both products.
- For easy access and ADA compliance, be sure to place the dispenser between 36" and 40" off the floor.
- Make sure to keep the dispenser at least 6" away from any electrical fixtures - light switches, outlets or thermostats. Check local regulations to determine actual distance required.
- If there is a paper towel dispenser by the door, try to place the PURELL dispenser between the paper towel dispenser and the door.

A perfect placement is as simple as:

- 1 Inside the restroom
- 2 On the wall by the exit door, next to the door handle
- 3 36" to 40" off the floor

Make PURELL the last thing they see before they leave the restroom, within easy reach, and the odds people will use it increase.
